Cambridge, Mass: Vyome Holdings, Inc., (“Vyome”) (NASDAQ: HIND), a next-generation inflammation-focused company leveraging the US–India innovation corridor, today announced its financial results and a series of corporate and clinical milestones following its successful listing on Nasdaq.

This quarter marks Vyome’s first full reporting period as a newly listed Nasdaq company. Vyome is a clinical-stage, and AI-focused company positioned to accelerate development across immuno-inflammatory and potential orphan indications.

“Vyome is targeting one of the biggest challenges in the world today - inflammation. So many of our medical and mental problems are linked to increased inflammation. We are building our business with a laser focus on shareholder value, whether it’s our capital structure, the development of our assets, or looking at AI opportunities,” said Krishna Gupta, Chairman of Vyome. “We had a great first quarter as a public company thanks to our unique strengths, including expertise in/access to the US-India innovation corridor. We announced an important interim result for our drug targeting the billion-dollar opportunity in malignant fungating wound (MFW), and it’s just the beginning!”

“This quarter marks a defining step forward for Vyome. We executed a highly efficient transition to the public markets, spending less cash than expected in our first quarter as a public company and strengthening our organization while advancing our lead program,” noted Venkat Nelabhotla, CEO of Vyome. He further added, “The promising interim Phase 2 results for VT-1953 reinforce the scientific promise of our immuno-inflammation platform. With our disciplined operations, clean capital structure, and world-class team, we are well-positioned to deliver on the milestones ahead and drive long-term value for both shareholders and patients.”

VT-1953: Highly Encouraging Interim Phase 2 study Readouts

The lead program, VT-1953, a topical agent targeting symptoms of putrid smell and pain in malignant fungating wounds (MFW), an inflammatory condition afflicting an estimated one million cancer patients, continued to show strong clinical momentum.

- Interim Phase 2 Investigator-Initiated Study data demonstrated statistically significant reductions in malodor (P<0.001) — the primary endpoint
 - Patients also reported reductions in pain and improvements in quality of life
 - VT-1953 continues to show an excellent safety profile
 - FDA discussions on pivotal study design and Orphan drug designation are planned for the first half of 2026

MFW is a devastating condition affecting 5–14% of advanced cancer patients, often leading to severe emotional and social burden due to an extremely bad smell, which prevents any interaction with family or friends. MFW represents a potential addressable market opportunity of $1B in the USA with no FDA-approved drug; VT-1953 would be the only solution on the market. VT-1953 is being advanced as a potential orphan drug candidate, with full data of Phase 2 readouts expected to be announced in the first week of December 2025.

We previously reported strong preclinical efficacy for VT-1908 eye drops in uveitis models in the third quarter, reinforcing its promise as a highly needed steroid-sparing candidate. FDA interactions for VT-1908 are planned for the first half of 2026, alongside continued development activities to advance the program towards clinical readiness.
